The President Thoroughly Goes Over the Papers in Schneider's Case.

APPEALS MADE TODAY.

But Mr. Cleveland Refuses Them-The "Death Watch" Set on the Condemned Man-He Will Be Closely Guarded From Now Until His Execution.

Among the President's callers this morning was Representative Oates of Alabama, who lives a few doors from the Schneider residence in this city.

He told the President that he had been in plored by Schneider's mother and sisters to prefer a request to the President, and he was constrained by their grief to at least communicate their petition, which he would do, but

and would not attempt to question its wisdom.

Mr. Oates had declined to add his own intercession to their appeal for executive elemency in Schneider's behalf, although he had been requested to do so by the family.

Private Secretary Thurber was asked by STAR reporter today what action had bee taken in the Schneider case. He replied that he would be obliged to refer that inquiry to Mr. Mattingly, the attorney of the condemned Mr. Mattingly, the attorney of the con-

The President was engaged in looking through the papers last night and until nearly 2 o'clock this morning. Every phase of the case had been reviewed and the President decided that he could not interfere with the execution of the sentence, but would allow the law to take its Early this morning Schneider's spiritual adviser called upon the President and secured an interview before the rush of callers set in. He entreeted the President to great Schmidter had not been used on Sundays for such purentreated the President to grant Schneider clemency and intimated that the convicted man had not had time to prepare himself spiritually for his approaching end.

"If you will pledge me your honor that such is the case I may consider the advisability of sixty him a faw days."

giving him a few days."

The pledge was not given, however, and the interview closed with this. THE DEATH WATCH BET. Howard J. Schneider late yesterday afternoon was given the most direct intimation of the short lease of life remaining to him that he had apparently yet received when at 6 o'clock what is known as the "death watch" was placed over him. Unless the President interferes through a respite this watch over the condemned man will not be relaxed until the march to the scaffold is taken up next Friday morning.

The "death watch" is the placing of an officer of the prison just outside the cell of the doomed man, where the official, from his position, may see through the open iron work of the cell door every movement of the prisoner. This watch of the man will be continued day and night, the officers being relieved every hour or so. Following the pre-ceden. set by his predecessor, Warden Crocker, Warden Burke will hereafter permit Schneider to be interviewed only in the presence of an to be interviewed only in the presence of an officer of the jail, and the privilege of holding such interviews in the office of the prison will hereafter be refused, no exception being made even in the case of the family of the prisoner, so a reporter of The Star was in-formed by Warden Burke yesterday afternoon.

The wretched man was carefully searched yesterday, ton last evening. The annexation commissioners received a large budget of newspapers as was his cell, that he might not have concealed anything with which a desperate man might and letters. One of the letters stated that Mr. Woodhouse, the English consul general at

The cards of admission to witness the execution authorized to be issued by the warden of the jail were sent out yesterday afternoon, and as the full number authorized by law was issued the warden stated that under no circumstances would he issue additional ones. No person will be admitted to the prison unless such a card is presented. Under Honolulu, had up to the time the steamer left there not called upon the members of the pro-visional government nor extended to them any of the usual courtesies. The same was true of the officers of the Japanese frigate which has recently arrived in the harbor, and the letter giving this information stated that they seemed to be acting under the influence of the British prison unless such a card is presented. the sentence imposed upon Schneider he will be hanged between the hours of 8 a.m. and 12 m. Everything is in readiness for the execu-tion; the rope has been tested and the drop the Knights of Industry of New York called tion; the rope has been tested and the drop placed in perfect working order.

As stated in yesterday's STAR, the information that the Supreme Court had refused to interfere in his case was imparted to Schneider shortly after the decision was rendered by one of the jail officials, the prisoner's only comment being: "Go away. Don't bother me." SCHNEIDER REFUSED TO TALK. Schneider was seen in his cell yesterday afternoon by a STAB reporter, but the man refused to say anything whatever. He was found sitto say anything whatever. He was found sit-ting on the end of his cot at his cell door smoking a cigar. He was bent for-ward, his left elbow resting on his knee. The cigar was held in his left hand, his right hand resting easily on his hip. As he slowly put the cigar in his mouth and lazily puffed away at it he appeared to be in deep thought and apparently totally unconcerned as to any matter whatever. An old slouch hat was pulled down well over his eyes and he was dressed in rather shabby clothing. His hair has been trummed, but not his beard, his general appearance being somewhat improved in con-sequence. When told by Deputy Warden Russ a few days ago that his hair must be cut Schneider stoutly resisted for a time, but when he found that he must be submitted without any found that he must be submitted without any further remonstrances. Such, too, was the case when informed several days ago that he must submit to a bath. After his attack upon Mr. Russ Monday afternoon Schneider relapsed into his sulien, quiet state, making no reference to the affair. It is believed by the jail officials that when the man is told that no hope whatever remains to him that he will suffer a total collapse and that it will be necessary to carry

TOLD OF THE PRESIDENT'S REFUSAL. Schneider was informed that the President had refused to interfere in his case shortly after noon today by one of his fellow-prisoners, who had been instructed to do so by Deputy Warden Russ. Calling Schneider to him, the man shook hands with him and said: "How-ard, the President has declined to do anything for you."

As the man said this Schneider's hand fell and his lip quivered, but the only reply he made was: "All right." Then he requested to see Mr. Strong, one of the guards, for whom he has been repeatedly asking all day. But the officer was not on duty, and Schneider was so told. The wretched man then asked for a match and lighting a cigar walked away to the end of his cell. REPUSED BELIGIOUS CONSOLATION. A few minutes previous to this Rev. Mr. Stakely, pastor of the First Baptist Church, went to Schneider's cell for the pur-pose of offering him religious consola-tion. Schneider refused to talk, however, except in relation to his invention, and then re-peated the story that people were bothering him and would not let him sleep. The minister did not succeed in his efforts and after a few minutes reluctantly left the man. HIS CELL CHANGED. This afternoon Schneider was removed from the cell he has hitherto occupied and placed in cell No. 3 on the opposite side of the corridor. Before he was placed in the latter cell he was stripped and given an entirely different outfit of clothing, his bedding being changed also.

TWO CLEBGYMEN CALL, About 1:30 this afternoon Rev. W. E. Parson, paster of the Church of Reformation, and son, pastor of the Church of Reformation, and Rev. Mr. Domer, pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church, called to see Schneider. Schneider treated them pleasantly, but made no reply when they informed him of the action of the President. They saked him if they could do anything for him in a religious way. He mid: "What do you mean?" They explained to him their errand, but Schneider's only reply was, "I want to see my mother." The elegymen then asked him if he would see them if they would call tomorrow, and he said he would. They then shook hands with him and left.

Mr. Parson stated to a Star reporter that he found little if any change in Schneider's condition, he apparently being today as he has been for some time past.
